RE: LETTER OF INTEREST — NAVAJO GOVERNMENT DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION

Dear Hon. Chairman Hale,

I send this letter to convey my interest in the recent vacancy on the Navajo Government Development Commission. Attached you will find my resume for your review.

I received my Bachelor's Degree in Applied Indigenous Studies with an emphasis in Policy Administration from NAU in 2010. I am currently a Master's Degree candidate enrolled in the Indigenous and Tribal Nation-Building, Leadership, Management, and Administration graduate certificate and the Masters in Public Administration degree program from Northern Arizona University. I anticipate receiving the certificate in May, and my Master's Degree next year.

Presently, I work as a coordinator with NAU's Center for American Indian Economic Development. The Center works collaboratively with tribes to provide technical assistance, consultation, and financial management workshops for native youth. I currently oversee the financial literacy program, business plan competition, and coordination of the quarterly meetings with tribal leaders regarding economic development. I also serve on NAU's Commission for Native Americans as co-chair.

You will see from my resume my employment experience as a legislative district assistant with the Navajo Nation Council and several other roles demonstrates a working relationship with the Navajo Nation, regional tribes, and the federal government in government development and policy for Indian Country. My passion is to advance the cause of the Navajo People and Native Americans as it pertains to tribal government policy, sovereignty, and the trust relationship of our tribes. I believe in real-world and pragmatic policy solutions to improve the quality of life and cultural preservation for Native Americans.

The Government Development Commission and its office was created in 2007 to provide policy recommendations, research data regarding the efficacy of Navajo government, and alternative forms of government based on Navajo fundamental law for Council consideration. I believe I am well-qualified to contribute guidance and direction in a meaningful, tangible way to provide real-working solutions which align with the Commission's original intent. My passion for my people is what motivates me in my endeavors, and I am excited for this opportunity to serve the Navajo Nation.

With that, I thank you for your time in considering my application to this position. I look forward to your favorable response. If you have any questions you can reach me at . or by email at 'héhee'.

Sincerely,

Crystal J. Cree
